23 March 2022 - See Notice and
Agenda in this Issue.

EDITOR'S NOTE

Dear readers,

This month we start with the end - well, your dog's rear end. Local vet Dr Marjorie reminds us to pay attention to the health and care of our dogs' bottoms to prevent related health problems. Check it out on page 12

Instructor Narelle also shares a celebration of how our pets can improve our health by keeping us active and our spirits up. Crack a smile and turn to page 6.

On a more personal note, it is time that I - Ellen - hang up my hat and red pen, so this will be my last edition as Editor. My co-editor Tony will remain at Howler HQ and looks forward to hearing from anyone who would like to be a part of the team. To get involved, give us a howl at hillshowler@gmail.com.

Thank you all for being the heart of 50 editions of the Howler from the Ellen-and-Tony Editorial Team. It has been so rewarding to hear from our members and help to share the stories of our community. Thanks for all the laughs, the occasional tear, and most of all, for sharing and learning with me. I look forward to seeing you all on the training field!

Happy training!

GREAT JOB!

A Note From Our President...

(with apologies from Howler HQ for the slight delay - let's just say a dog ate it)

2022 The year of jabs, stabs, and possibly more normality.

The end of January saw us back on the paddock.

Even at high levels of vaccination we still have many people catching Covid. Therefore it is imperative that we all obey the rules with masks, distancing, isolation, etc.

The Club is no different to anywhere else. If you do not follow the rules you will be asked to leave, so as to protect the rest of our members. We all know it can be a pain but it is something we need to do, let's beat it and get back to normal.

March is the month for our annual AGM, 23rd March. As always, we would like to see people interested in joining the Committee. Tasks are not that onerous and you can learn a huge amount about the various dog sports and also a great deal of knowledge about dogs. Meetings are only once a month, on a Wednesday 7:30 on the grounds.

It is good to see the amount of inquiry we are receiving via Facebook etc. We will probably have a few problems matching numbers of Instructors with Members for classes. I would ask you to be tolerant if things go wrong now and again. We will get there. We did it before so why not again?

From me and all of the Committee, Have a good year, and I look forward to seeing you on the field.

Best Regards

Gordon Fenbow

President

LIVING WITH COVID AT HILLS DOG CLUB 2022

Training at Hills Dog Club has resumed for Monday night and Tuesday morning classes.

- Please bring your 2021 membership card which will be used until your 2022 renewal is paid and be ready for class 10 minutes before start time.
- After arriving, please pay your ground fees (cash or EFTpos), have your card stamped and go to class collection area

Ensure everyone's safety by assisting us with the following guidelines

- Please stay at home if you are feeling unwell.
- You will be asked to leave by staff if you show any cold or flu like symptoms.
- Please maintain a distance of 1.5m between yourself and other people and their dogs.

- Although QR check-in is no longer mandatory, the NSW QR code will be available for HDC members to scan to support contact tracing should a person with Covid-19 attend at the Club, or you enter your details on check-in form at Check-in tables (look for the Check-in banner!) on the field or near the office.
- You are not required to be fully vaccinated or carry proof of vaccination, but all HDC volunteer Instructors, Office and Grounds people are vaccinated and would appreciate it if you are too!
- Hills Dog Club supports the use of masks for the safety of yourself and HDC staff.

If you have tested positive for Covid-19, please view this link before coming back to Club.

<https://www.nsw.gov.au/covid-19/management/advice-for-confirmed#toc-when-can-i-leave-self-isolation>.

WE LOOK FORWARD TO SEEING YOU!

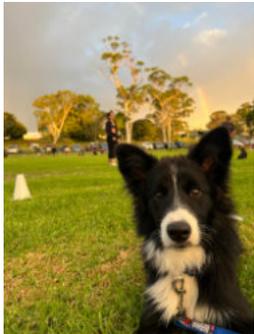

The above guidelines are based on current advice from NSW Health, Dogs NSW and Hills Shire Council, however the COVID-19 situation can change rapidly.

We encourage you to keep up with government health advice and we will do our best to keep you notified of any changes to our events, or if it's not safe to train, via the community Facebook page

<https://www.facebook.com/hillsdogclub/>

The guidelines are to ensure that the Club meets its legal responsibilities. These laws from State Government, NSW Health and the Hills Shire Council relate to both your health & safety and how HDC ensure that we all stay safe whilst we train. The financial penalties for failure to comply with these laws are extremely high, along with the financial penalties, Council has told the club we would be given only 1 warning for a breach and then we would be banned from hiring any Hills Council property in the future.

* The club has the right to temperature check any member they feel they need to for safety reasons.

We train we're fine come rain or shine

PETS ARE GOOD FOR OUR HEALTH!

By Narelle Brown,

“Did you know that having to jump out of bed in the morning and feed your pet and interact with your dog is so good for you?”

Isn't it good to know that:

- Studies show that engaging with pets lowers our levels of stress and can make us feel happy. It can lower the levels of the stress hormone cortisol and raise the good hormones oxytocin, dopamine and serotonin. (One example is Washington State University's 2019 study which demonstrated this in real-life situations outside the laboratory.)
- Pets give us a purpose in life
- Pets can help our physical health - regular exercise associated with walking, getting outside and throwing a ball for an animal can increase cardiovascular health in humans and result in fewer visits to the doctor.
- Pets can also help us unite and connect people from all walks of life – it is easy to interact with people and their pets. How many times have you been asked by strangers- how old is your dog, your dog is so cute, can I pat your dog?

According to Australia Talks Survey 2021 almost 1/3 of Australians would prefer to spend time with their pets than people. While spending time with our pets shouldn't replace regular social interaction, having a pet in the house can provide great comfort, reduce anxiety and help with feelings of loneliness and safety and can change the chemistry of our brains. Caring for a pet has been found to have the same effect on our brains (i.e. a release of oxytocin that has a calming effect) as when a mother holds her child.

Professor Kerry Phelps—in her book How to Keep Your Brain Young—describes the release of serotonin when patting a pet as a type of natural antidepressant, giving you a sense of calm and promoting happy feelings.

I have seen grumpy old men fall about like children when a pet comes to them. - cooing and talking to them. I have seen older people and children cry with joy at being given a pet – pets provide acceptance, they don't judge us! Pet Therapy dogs bring joy and happiness to ill and frail people, children with disabilities and are used in many different arenas.

Pets are joyful and make us smile and laugh. They listen to our complaints, they sit with us in our grief and they are certainly there when we want to play! We can learn a lot from living in the moment from our pets.

Of course, our members at Hills Dog Club know that – yes sometimes our dogs are a challenge but with love and commitment and positive training you will reap the rewards and physical and health benefits too!!

A MUTT'S BUTT

Tales from the Backside

By Marjorie Au

Looking after your dog's health sometimes means identifying issues around their backsides, which may be hidden by a fluffy coat, or for some of the more squeamish amongst us a no-go zone altogether.

However there are a few things, you should be aware of:

Anal Glands (or Sacs)

Dogs & cats have two anal sacs which are secretory glands on either side of their anus. The secretions are expelled through a thin duct which opens at 4- and 8-o'clock (if the anus is a clock-face) when stool is passed and expands the anal sphincter. We believe the anal secretions are scent-markers, a kind of "name tag", allowing dogs to identify each other & know who's been where. Hence the reason why dogs are so interested in sniffing each other's butts and poo when they meet.

Anal gland secretions vary from dog to dog, and even from left to right gland; so that in consistency can be watery or pasty to dry & crumbly. However they all have the same property that is very distinct - the secretions STINK!

Problems arise with anal glands when the secretions are thickened or solidified and block the ducts. The sacs keep filling up, putting pressure on the surrounding area, and the dog may attempt to relieve the discomfort but biting or chewing their back ends, or more commonly by "scotching" ie. sitting down with back legs in the air and dragging their bottoms along the ground. If you see this behaviour, it may be a good idea to get a vet check sooner rather than later, because impacted anal glands can lead to abscesses forming and even bursting out through the skin, leaving a dog with a real pain in the backside.

Treatment for anal gland abscesses usually involves antibiotics and anti-inflammatories as a minimum, and sometimes flushing or surgical lancing of the gland.

Some dogs never have a problem, while others may have recurrent impactions. Preventative measures suggested include increasing fibre in the diet, or feeding raw bones to increase the bulk of the stool; as well as regular exercise and weight loss if the dog is overweight. There is no single panacea for this problem so advice in conjunction with your veterinarian is recommended.

Rectal Prolapse

This is more common in pups or young dogs, usually with a history of straining to defecate (tenesmus) from severe diarrhoea or other conditions causing colitis such as parasite infections. An elongated, pink, cylinder-shaped mass protruding from the anus is usually seen. Treatment of the underlying cause of tenesmus is paramount; while prolapses are usually lubricated and manually replaced by a vet, with some surgical sutures to hold it in place. However, prolapses that have been left too long, can have damaged rectal mucosal tissue and may require amputation.

Anal Tumours & Rectal Polyps

Signs of these abnormal growths may be straining to defecate, pain on defecation and poorly formed stools, sometimes with bleeding. Polyps are benign but a nuisance, but some anal tumours are highly malignant and need immediate veterinary attention. Anal tumours are very likely to occur in entire (non-desexed) older male dogs.

Perineal Hernias

These are hernias that develop next to the anus. Muscle fibres are weakened & pushed apart allowing herniation of the rectal wall, or even sometimes the bladder & prostate through the hole, which then is apparent as a bulging under the skin. Most commonly it occurs in entire male dogs 6-8 years old; in certain breeds for example Welsh Corgis, Boxers, Collies & Old English Sheepdogs to name some; or secondary to chronic constipation or prostatic disease. Signs include straining to defecate or urinate and bulging mass next to the anus. Surgery is the only option to treat this problem. Remember inability to urinate is life-threatening, so immediate veterinary attention is required.

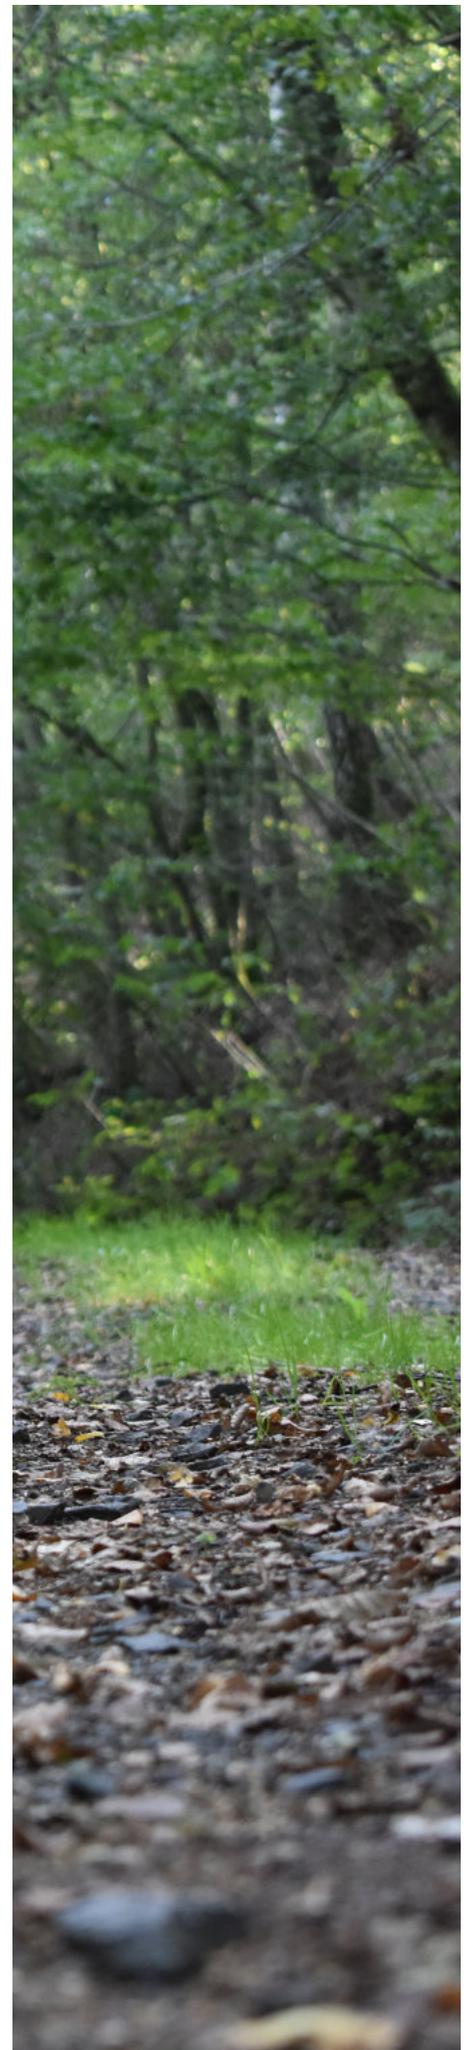

Perianal Fistulas

These are infected, weeping, open wounds occurring around the anus of dogs over 7 years of age usually of German Shepherd breed, but sometimes seen in setters and retrievers. We believe the cause is due to the anatomy of the tail & perianal region, as well as immune-mediated factors. Treatment involves dietary modification with topical and/or systemic antibiotics & immunosuppressives, but some dogs need to undergo surgical or more advanced procedures to resolve the issue.

These are just a few things that can occur, so stop and have a think about your dog's rear end - keeping it healthy may prevent a bigger pain in the butt for you and your best friend.
